However, it is also home to two of the most spectacular landmarks in the world. If you are visiting the UK capital city, it is in your best interests to know a little about the two spectacular landmarks that are found within its confines. This is not simply for the sake of knowing about them and their place in British history, but also because they provide a wonderful opportunity to experience London in an entirely different light. The Monument One of the two spectacular landmarks in London, the Monument is found close to Trafalgar Square. It is a structure known as an obelisk that dates back to the 15th century and was originally found in the Egyptian city of Alexandria. It is now the tallest free-standing monument in the world. The Tower of London The Tower of London has been home to the sovereign of the British Isles since the Norman conquest of 1066, and is one of the most popular tourist attractions in the country. It is a spectacular site that can be found in the heart of the capital. Visiting London's major tourist attractions is a fantastic way to get the most out of the experience and make sure that you get to see and enjoy the sights that British city has to offer. Whether you are a history buff, enjoy a bit of adventure or just take in some of the city's renowned food, there is an abundance of activities and attractions to get involved in. These are two of the most spectacular landmarks in the world,
