In the 21st century, we are reaping the fruits of a civilization based on conquest, slavery and expansion. A civilization based on self and contentment. One must self-examine one's daily existence; and one must question the purpose and value of one's own existence. A vast ocean of emptiness stretches before us, with no signs of life on the horizon. On top of that, our minds function on the same old level. We are being boxed in by the walls and media of religions. Those in the weak and poverty-stricken states are being force fed fundamentalism and identity politics. They are being made to use genital mutilation and religious oppression to fight for power. A civilization based on self and contentment. That is the goal of the New Man Movement. Let's imagine a world where all people live and move as individuals, and live and act on their own will. It is a world where people can live together without fear, a world where there is no authoritarianism, and a world where the law of the jungle prevails. To move in this direction, self-reflection and examination must be instilled in everyone. The only way to the New Man is to reverse civilization's current direction of endless competition and globalization. In 2012, most people are focused on problems. The New Man Movement is focused on solutions 3e33713323
