Q: Using a variable as parameter in SQL using a parameterized query I know in normal sql you can use variables as parameters like this: DECLARE @address varchar(max) = 'New York, USA' SELECT * FROM TABLE WHERE NAME = @address But is it possible to do that using parameterized query? Is it possible to add a variable, as above, to a parameterized query? A: Yes, using a variable to match against in a query is possible using dynamic SQL. You can read more here: Dynamic SQL Negative affectivity, depression, and suicide in male urban, rural, and isolated incarcerated offenders. Evidence indicates that affective disorders are correlated with violence and may be associated with suicide risk. This study investigates suicide risk in incarcerated offenders with and without depressive disorders. Male inmates (n = 769) in a correctional facility in the Midwest were interviewed using the Structured Clinical Interview for DSM-III-R (SCID), the Beck Depression Inventory (BDI), and the Affective Checklist (ACL). A total of 192 inmates (24.7%) met criteria for current major depressive disorder (MDD); of these, 16 (8.3%) committed suicide. Inmates with MDD and those without MDD did not differ in age, race, current substance use, or prior criminal history; however, MDD inmates were more likely 3da54e8ca3
