PanaVue ImageAssembler allows to combine multiple images of different size, resolution and orientation into a panorama image. The resulting image has the same dimensions as the smallest image. PanaVue ImageAssembler is especially recommended for creating 360 degree panorama images and images without a clear horizontal or vertical axis. PanaVue ImageAssembler for iPhoto: You will be able to create and stitch together panorama images from all available pictures that you have imported into your iPhoto library. Its quite easy to create 360° panoramas. Just select the pictures that you want to combine and click the "Create Panorama" button. The result will be a 360° panorama image. The stitched panorama images are saved in the portable image format JPG and show the iPhoto album in which they were created. If you have just shot a panorama and want to enhance it, you can rotate the panorama image around the center. If you want to rotate the entire panorama, simply select the entire panorama and drag one of the four edges. PanaVue ImageAssembler is able to move the horizontally or vertically stretched panorama image. Other panorama software is just able to stitch several images side by side to create a panorama image. PanaVue ImageAssembler requires a single image to build a panorama. PanaVue ImageAssembler requires a normal computer with either: CPU: Intel(R) Core(TM)2 Duo CPU T8300 @ 2.40 GHz (1.61 GHz, 0.98 GHz) RAM: 256 MB Hard Disk: PanaVue ImageAssembler is a software program for Mac operating systems. It was originally designed as an iPhoto plug-in for stitching panorama images together, but it has now been extended to also stitch panorama images from raw image files. In this mode PanaVue ImageAssembler can stitch together images of any format: JPG, TIFF, or RAW images. Currently one image is required to stitch together a panorama. Note: The version of PanaVue ImageAssembler that you purchase on Flickr may not include the panorama stitching and rotation features. In order to use PanaVue ImageAssembler on a Mac, you will need to have OS X v10.4 or 10.5. Pana
