"Maatr" movie review and movie trailer.
This is the story of two brothers living together in a house, one is young and the other is an elderly. Maatr is a suspense thriller movie. Maatr is Directed by Ashtar Sayed. Starring Brijendra Kala, Swati Chitnis, Shamnya.Q: How to use MIME types for handlers in Sinatra? I have a small Sinatra app that I'm trying to add content negotiation support to.

Using one of the Sinatra tutorials I've read the preferred approach to doing this is to use MIME types. So in my route handler I use something like:

get "/" do erb : "index"
end
get(:mime_type => "text/html") do erb : "hello"
end
get(:mime_type => "application/vnd.openxmlformats-officedocument.wordprocessingml.document") do # load.docx
  document

And in my application helper I have something like:

def mime_types mime_types = [ :text/html,
                 :text/plain,
                 :application/pdf,

---

:application/msword, ] mime_types.each do |mime_type| get mime_type do # load content using curl end end end This seems to work, but is a pretty heavy-handed approach. As you can see by the documents I load in my example, the same code is going to handle all of my MIME types. I'd like to move this logic into the handler rather than the route handler because I only want to do content negotiation for a certain set of MIME types and don't want to write duplicate code for things I know aren't likely to change. I see Sinatra has a `mime_types` method in its helpers but I'm not sure how to use it. I'm trying to figure out how to pass an array of MIME types into the
