After I set it up and got it running, I noticed that whenever I ran a program inside Virtualbox (Mozilla Firefox), the screen would dim and Virtualbox would be closed. When I checked Virtualbox preferences, the Virtualbox preferences window would be closed. It did not matter what type of program I ran; when I ran a program inside Virtualbox, it would dim my computer and Virtualbox would close. Running a program inside Virtualbox caused the Virtualbox window to dim and close. Why does this happen? How can I resolve the issue? On input1, there is a button named submit. After clicking on that, I want to perform a task by updating input2 and then click a submit button named submit-2. So if I press the submit button twice, I can expect two events for input2 from one click of the submit button. Is there any kind of onevent handler for this example? I also want to be able to catch those events in code-
